

John Edward Cross Country (Series 3)

12 X 1 HOUR

EPISODIC BREAKDOWN

1. Holidays

The psychic readings in the New York studio relate to one another because families seated in one section of the audience have all lost children. After physically re-positioning the families, John gets messages from a son of a police officer and his wife. Their son Daniel on other side is trying to lift away Dad's deep burden of guilt.

2. Heroes

In the New York City Gallery, John connects with the Wallace family whose 9/11 casualties span generations. A few years after the patriarch of the family, one of New York's Bravest, gave his life in the Twin Towers, his son succumbed to the grief – and became another 9/11 passing. John follows-up with this family in their home after the reading.

3. Remember the Good Times

The other side makes sure happier moments are treasured. In the New York studio – a man named Jim is psychically challenged to acknowledge a second dad, who had committed suicide. The show travels home with Jim to reconnect him to that dad and surviving extended family.

4. Together Forever

A father comes through in the studio with messages for his daughter Emily. John follows up with both women at Emily's home to memorialize the cosmic connection and the memory. Then a husband and wife – who are both police officers, hear from relatives who like to stir things up. A home visit reveals that their psychic reading has strengthened family bonds.

5. The Light

This episode begins as John is connecting with a mom in the audience named Gail, who has lost her daughter Anjuli in a car accident. From the other side Anjuli reveals that even though she was driving, she was not responsible for her and her boyfriend's passing. This psychic message releases a stream of relief for both Gail and her husband Jeremy.

6. Four Psychics

At the top of the show John answers audience questions. This leads directly into the first reading for Suzie and Bill, who came all the way from Corvallis, Montana to see John in New York. Their son Christopher had died in a car accident. A visit to Montana reveals how their amazing reading reinforced Chris's family's faith in the after-life.

7. Still With Us

The show begins with a reading for two Maryland sisters, April and Paige, who recently lost their mom. John asks them to join them on stage with him to help them understand the limitations of mediumship. John hears from mom (on the other side) that she is very concerned about Paige being able to be a good parent due to her grief.

8. Energy Abounds

John connects with Alicia whose deceased father acknowledges chewing gum in his casket. Alicia's reading begins a journey that takes John back to her mother's home months later. At the family home, John uncharacteristically does another reading for Alicia's husband Ethan and mother Susan which uncovers a mystery.

9. Spiritual Fuel

The show begins with John reading a woman named Sheila in his NYC studio. She hears from her parents. Her father – who died before Sheila could get home to be with him, knows exactly where Sheila was when he died. The show follows up with Sheila at her New Jersey home and discovers that she received spiritual messages while at the show, before her reading.

10. Keeping the Faith

The show begins when John connects a family in the studio audience with grandparents who have passed away. The deceased generation wants to assure this family that their son (who recently passed in a drowning accident) is with them. John also picks up that the son is trying to contact the survivors with electronic interference at home.

11. The Process

The readings in this show feature a mother, Nancy and her daughters who while in the studio audience humorously connect with Nancy's mother on the other side. John psychically sees a raised eyebrow which signifies this woman's personality is the same in the afterlife as it was in life. JECC travels to Pearblossom Ca, to further validate the reading.

12. Soul Song

John connects parents Barbara and Scott with their son who died in a motorcycle accident. John follows up with the family, who validate John's messages with symbols they have been receiving.

Meanwhile, four sisters hear from their mom. Months later in their home in NJ, John discovers that the afterlife communication motivated these women to bond the sisters' families together.