Aging In The Wild

5 x 60' or 1 x 60'

This series studies animals ageing in the wild. Passionate researchers bring us right into the lives of the animals they study, but this isn't just another beautiful animal documentary. It is also an invitation to consider the challenges of growing old in the wild. Our discoveries reveal that the process of ageing varies as much as the species themselves. It is impossible not to see this without reflecting on our own experiences along the way.

Destination China

2 x 60'

Yunnan province in southwestern China has an incredible landscape, with snow-capped mountains, rice terraces, lakes, rubber plantations, gorges and tropical rainforests. Bordering Myanmar, Laos and Vietnam, Yunnan's distinctive nature reserves were awarded World Heritage status for their rich biodiversity. Destination China takes you to some of China's most beautiful landscapes, home to 6,000 species of plant, 200 mammals and 500 birds. We travel from snow-covered Shangri La in the North, to the tropical Xishuangbanna in the South. White-cheeked gibbons are the most endangered animals in China. Meanwhile, China's elephants are only found in the extreme south of the Yunnan province. They number between 200 and 300 and are highly endangered. This celebration of diversity, survival, and the wonders of natural beauty is a feast for the eyes.

1 x 60' or 1 x 88'

This film is a challenge to viewers to examine their values as human beings. Modern life finds us at war with each other, with our environment, and with the world. Director and award-winning filmmaker Greg Reitman takes us on a film journey to take notice, stop the cycle of violence, and proactively seek ways to find personal and ecological peace. Reitman heeds Maharishi Mahesh Yogi's words, that if the forest is to be green, every tree must be green.

The Execution Of Gary Gilmore
2 x 60' or 1 x 60'

In January 1977, Gary Gilmore spoke his last words, 'let's do it', and was executed by firing squad. That simple act re-instated the death penalty in the US after a ten-year moratorium. The floodgates opened, and since then over 1,000 state sponsored executions have taken place in the US. Exclusive footage in this film sparks the Gilmore saga to life. Gilmore, who was convicted of murdering a gas-station attendant and a motel clerk without motive, wanted to be executed. He refused to appeal his verdict and insisted that he wanted to die. Through never-before-seen material, we re-tell a crucial story of American justice, and also revisit both sides of the contentious capital punishment debate. Whispers In The Dark

1 x 60'

In 2007, serial rapist Johannes Mowers was arrested. He led police to a large burrow covered in corrugated iron where he was keeping two girls, one of them four years old, who he had kidnapped in 2005. The girls were severely traumatised and it appeared that Mowers had sexually abused the older girl, aged 14. This sensitive film tells the girls' story, and tries to understand the mind of a man who could perpetrate such inhumane crimes.

Luther vs Rome

When Martin Luther nailed his 95 'points for discussion' to Wittenberg's Castle church, his quiet life exploded into international confrontation, an argument with the Pope, and ultimately, the Protestant Reformation. A simple monk pitted against the might, power, and money of Rome. But while the religious, social and political consequences have been much discussed, we reveal a fundamentally human story of honesty, faith, and fortitude.

The Nuclear Requiem

This absorbing film is a meditation on why nuclear weapons still exist, 70 years on from their creation. The production of the documentary involved interviewing witnesses from a range of different perspectives. It also incorporates a specially composed musical piece by French composer Alain Kremski which beautifully underscores the continuing challenge of dealing with the most lethal weapon ever created by humankind.

Rooted In Peace

This film is a challenge to viewers to examine their values as human beings. Modern life finds us at war with each other, with our environment, and with the world. Director and award-winning filmmaker Greg Reitman takes us on a film journey to take notice, stop the cycle of violence, and proactively seek ways to find personal and ecological peace. Reitman heeds Maharishi Mahesh Yogi's words, that if the forest is to be green, every tree must be green.
